

Goings and Comings of the Bird Family, and How Scandal Gets Own Reward

There is a society of Americans running into the millions known as bird-watchers — a rather humorous and somewhat faulty description, for while a person may look at a bird once in a while every self-respecting bird keeps up with what a human is doing all the time.

This story revolves around a sleek-looking bird-feeder I bought in Memphis a couple of years ago and installed in my backyard — and which promptly handed me the problem of how to attract cardinals and other high-society birds without being stomped to death by sparrows. All I can say is that since the disappearance of the horse the sparrow has become a desperate character, and if you're figuring on segregating him out of a feeding station you are going to have to come up with more scientific information than this writer has been able to latch on to.

One of the legends has it that sunflower seed is much liked by cardinals and is too big for a sparrow to eat. But the laboratory report from my backyard says this is one legend that is not for the birds. The sparrows simply scratch the feeder dry, throwing the sunflower seed to the ground where they can tear the seed into small pieces at leisure and in safety.

The occasion for this peculiar operation is that the cardinal doesn't like sparrows any more than a bird-watcher does and runs them ragged around the feeder platform. But by the time the cardinal has the platform to himself the sunflower seed is all gone. So he has to drop down to the yard to feed, along with the sparrows. And here the sparrows' strategy pays off. The seed is so widely scattered the cardinal can't possibly catch up with all the intruders — so everybody eats and leaves the other fellow alone.

Intrigued by this unique operation I dragged a canvas chair into a corner of the yard and sat down to make some observations with binoculars. It was the first time I had sat in this particular corner — a matter that was brought to my attention when a mockingbird dive-bombed me. He had had me under observation all along but only declared himself when I took up a station too close to the nest hidden in a honeysuckle tangle.

The great hand-book for bird-watchers is the National Geographic Society's "Stalking Birds With Color Camera," by Arthur A. Allen, professor of ornithology at Cornell University. A highly moral book, too. For instance:

"Polygamy," writes Prof. Allen, "results in some normally monogamous species. House wrens, orioles, starlings, red-wings, meadowlarks, and robins have been found fathering two or more families at the same time, although most individuals of their kind are strictly one-family males."

"There are records of two female robins having the same mate and occupying the same nest, or two nests touching each other, yet with the birds apparently on good terms. I have even heard of two female cardinals occupying the same nest; but this is most irregular, and the resulting confusion caused the eggs to get broken."

South Hopeful
Farm Bill Will Help Cotton

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP) — The new farm bill which has cleared Congress and gone to the White House contains a provision designed to hike exports of U. S. cotton.

And cotton-state members of Congress are hopeful it will help solve some of the industry's most pressing problems by a big reduction in the government-held surplus.

A reduction in this surplus, they say, eventually should have a beneficial effect on domestic prices and remove pressure for further cuts in the national cotton acreage allotment.

The provision was termed "visually important" by Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) and Rep. Gathings (D-Ar.).

It would require the Commodity Credit Corp. to offer its stocks for sale on the world market at competitive prices in an effort to regain a fair share of the export market which the secretary of agriculture has indicated is in the vicinity of five million bales yearly.

The proviso, in effect, tells the CCC to offer its cotton at 25¢ a pound or less. The price isn't in the bill but it directs that cotton shall be offered at prices brought by a million-bale sale early this year, and that cotton went for about 25¢ cents.

The surplus will be around 15 million bales on Aug. 1.

The bill fixes the 1957 and 1958 national cotton acreage allotment at the 1956 level, which is 17,391,000 acres.

Irregularities
in Uniform
Buying Certain

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today "wilful irregularities" in the handling of government contracts for military uniforms have been shown in an inquiry by his investigations subcommittee.

"The plot thickens every time we hear another witness," he told reporters, declaring the testimony spells out a story of "wilful irregularities that go beyond mere incompetence or inefficiency."

McClellan said Army Col. Louis H. Shirley will be asked to reply, probably tomorrow, to an unwritten statement that $24,745 in alleged "kickbacks" on one contract had been described as a fund to make "payments" to Shirley. The allegation was made by John W. Roberts, a Briton from whom this country is trying to collect some back income taxes.

Shirley termed this "absolutely untrue and a lie" and said he hopes to testify tomorrow.

Shirley, 51, is stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., as an assistant to the commanding general. Reached at his home near there, he said he never had heard of Roberts.

In previous testimony last June 23, Shirley swore he never took any bribes and that "I know nothing about any finaglers."

Sol Schlesinger, head of the Ideal Uniform Cap Co. of Freeport, N. Y., who allegedly got the $27,745, testified the same day he never bribed Shirley. Schlesinger invoked the Fifth Amendment against possible self-incrimination in declining to answer questions about other phases of his business with government people. He also may testify tomorrow, McClellan said.

McClellan said "Col. Shirley has much to explain" about his reasons for awarding two contracts to Schlesinger for the manufacture of 720,000 Air Force caps in 1950 and 1951. Shirley then was a Quartermaster Corps procurement officer, handling contracts for all of the armed forces.

Committee to Look Into Passport Deal

By DEAN W. DITTMER

WASHINGTON (UP) — House Committee on Un-American Activities today directed its passport investigation at U. S. delegates to so-called international peace conferences.

The committee summoned three witnesses — two of them alleged Communists — to testify how they obtained passports to attend such conferences in 1952.

The committee identified the witnesses as: Louis Wheaton, man of the U. S. delegation to the Pacific conference in Peiping; Mary Russell of New York, chairman of the U. S. delegation to the Intercontinental Peace Conference at Montevideo, Uruguay, and Dr. John A. Kingsburgh of New York, chairman of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship. The committee said Kingsburgh also attended the Peiping conference.

Cherokee Nation Thinks U. S.
Should Place Indian Under Its Foreign Aid Program

By HA BOYLE

CHEROKEE, N. C. (AP) — Should Uncle Sam include the American Indian under its program of aid to foreign nations?

Some members of the proud and diabetes-ridden Cherokee Nation think he should.

"Certainly we feel the need of some kind of Point Four program," said Walter Jackson, a Navy veteran and one of the 12 Tribal Council leaders of the Cherokees here.

"We need capital. If the federal government would provide us with the capital, we could create more industry. We could put more Indians in business. We could be independent again. And that's what we want to be."

The Cherokees were a proud and free nation centuries before the U. S. government put the portrait of an Indian on the other side of a buffalo nickel.

Cost of Living in April Shows
Slight Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today living costs increased slightly in April. The rise of 2-10th of one per cent was enough to give about a million workers a one-cent-an-hour wage boost.

The wage rise will go to auto and other workers have union contracts tied to the government's index.

The Labor Department said the April rise in its living costs index was chiefly due to seasonally higher food costs for the average American family.

The index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics rose to 114.9 per cent of the 1947-49 base period.

This is one-half of one per cent below the peak set in October, 1953, when the index was 115.4.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said the prospect for the summer months is a further gradual rise in food prices with perhaps lower prices for some consumer items such as automobiles and household appliances.

He said he hesitated to forecast that living costs will continue to rise through the summer but saw no sign that they will decline at least until fall.

TB Carriers
Give Disease
to Others

NEW YORK (AP) — People sick with TB, but not in hospitals pass TB to at least 80,000 other persons a year, a health official said today.

These patients are the most important problems now in tuberculosis control, said Dr. Edward K. Mikol, general director of tuberculosis hospitals, New York State Department of Health, Albany.

Mikol, in an address prepared for the National Tuberculosis Assn., discussed a U. S. Public Health Service report showing that 45 per cent of TB patients are not hospitalized.

This study finds 87 per cent of the nonhospitalized patients are in advanced stages of TB. Half are 45 or older. Above age 35, there are twice as many men as women with TB but not hospitalized.

A main implication is that it is "certainly the unhospitalized tuberculosis cases, both the known and unknown, that produce the 80,000 new cases reported each year in this country."

Mikol said the problem calls for more efforts to find and treat persons with TB, particularly in areas such as poor or economic sections of cities, where they are more prevalent.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Police are searching Western highways for a California woman who unknowingly faces a deadline today which she must meet or possibly die.

A wide-spread search was touched off through the western and central part of the nation when Missouri Highway Police received a report from the California State Patrol asking that Mrs. Ann Hopkins be found immediately.

Mrs. Hopkins was bitten by a dog which turned out to be rabid and she must start treatment no later than today.

Arkansas State Troopers learned that she had left Decatur, Ark., Tuesday morning and is on her way home to Wilmington, Calif., with her husband. He is supposed to be at work there tomorrow morning.

State Police say a friend at Decatur believes Mrs. Hopkins and her husband were traveling a route through Miami, Okla., Dalt, Tex., and Albuquerque, N. M.

Stops to Give Aid, Shot for His Trouble

WARREN (AP) — A would-be benefactor was shot and seriously wounded by the occupant of a parked automobile near here last night, Sheriff Lee Temple reported.

A. G. Haygood, 35, was driving his family home from a prayer meeting when he saw the parked car off Highway 4, Temple said.

Temple was told that Haygood stopped his car and started toward the car, shouting an offer of help if it were needed.

The sheriff said a man, described as a Negro, who was sitting at the steering wheel, shot Haygood as he approached the car.

Haygood fell with a bullet wound in his stomach. Members of his family ran to his aid, and were not harmed.

A Negro couple was arrested for questioning in connection with the shooting. James Bailey, 35, of Hampton, Ark., and his wife, Annie Mae Bailey, were held in Bradley County jail here.

Sheriff Temple quoted the woman as saying her husband shot Haygood. Temple said Bailey denied any knowledge of the shooting.

Bailey was arrested after hitching a ride near here with state Trooper Troy Oliver. The woman was taken into custody a few hours afterwards by Bradley County Judge C. W. Hickman at the home of her mother near Banks.

Hospital attendants at Warren said Haygood's condition was critical following an operation.

Officers found an unoccupied automobile at the scene.

They began a search for the owner.

Wilson Rapped
for 'Thought Control'

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) proposed today that a Senate subcommittee find out if Secretary of Defense Wilson is attempting "thought control" over feuding military leaders.

Jackson, a frequent critic of administration defense policies, alluded to a statement by Wilson about the row between Army, Air Force and Navy officials over rival missile programs and defense missions.

Asked by newsmen Tuesday what steps he planned to take, Wilson told newsmen: "We'll see who sticks their head up next. I think it might be a little dangerous."

Jackson termed this "a terrible thing to say" and added: "Thought control, that's what it is. Our committee should look into what he means by that statement."

He referred to an Armed Services subcommittee, headed by Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), which has been inquiring into the relative air strength of the United States and Russia. Symington has said he intends to broaden it into the interservice disagreement and perhaps try to basic missions for the services.

President Eisenhower, previously described by Wilson as a bit unhappy over the latest outbreak, said yesterday "I would be brightened indeed" if there were no service rivalries, especially at a time when new military concepts are developing rapidly.

"The only thing in which you might say that I was unhappy is that sometimes the way in which these arguments are conducted," he told a news conference.

Ford Visions No
Economic Rise,
Cites Sales Drop

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER

DETROIT (UP) — Henry Ford II told Ford stockholders today they can expect no economic upswing in 1956 but "the long-term future for our industry and for Ford Motor Co. looks particularly bright and promising to me."

Ford gave about 3,000 of the 319,000 stockholders his economic analysis and then "very frankly" talked about the drop in value of Ford stock since it was offered for public sale last Jan. 18.

"The failure of sale to increase seasonally from March forward indicated that volume for the rest of the 1956 model year would be lower than even the reduced estimates made in the early part of the year," he said.

"Looking to the remainder of 1956 it seems unlikely that the general economy will expand markedly," he said. "Automotive production, now at low levels compared to 1955, will remain a negative factor at least until the last quarter."

But Ford saw at least four signs for an economic upturn:

1. He said industry plans for building expansion are higher by $1½ billion than even the huge estimates made before this year.

2. There is an expected rise in government spending at local, state and federal levels for schools, hospitals, highways and other public works.

3. Residential construction, which had been declining, appears to have stabilized in recent months.

4. If the federal reserve system acted "with wisdom in its credit controls," the money should be available for the expanded investment and buying needed to maintain and improve the economy.

Ford said his firm spent $1,678,000,000 for new facilities during the 1946-1955 period. He said $592,000,000 was earmarked for 1956 and $400,000,000 for 1957.

In his discussion of the stock, Ford said he already had been asked many questions in correspondence from shareholders concerned about the drop from the $4.5 opening price to as low as $4.38 a share.

Apartment
Group Way Out

LITTLE ROCK (Special) The Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. has opened a way out for some apartment house owners who this month suddenly found their gas bills multiplied by the number of apartment units in their buildings.

If apartments are operated in the manner of hotels, keep registers and charge sales tax on room rents, they will be classed as hotels and exempted from multiple billing, Joe C. Hardin, Ark-La general manager for Arkansas said today.

This "sales tax rule" is expected to ease the situation in Hot Springs, where the resort town's apartment house operators had protested multiple billing to their city council. Their protest was withdrawn last week after conferences with gas company officials.

It was stated the apartment owners were told "each apartment has to be evaluated on the merits of the type of guests the operator caters to."

When it was pointed out to Hardin that many hotels make a special monthly rate on which no sales tax is charged for permanent residents, he said the company had found it impossible to make an inflexible rule to apply to all cases.

As for apartment houses which cannot qualify under the new rule, which has not, incidentally, been referred to the Public Service Commission for approval or disapproval, the multiple billing regulation will continue. A change in the company's general rules and regulations knocked out a provision formerly included in one of its commercial rate schedules for apartment houses using large quantities of gas through a single meter.

Hardin also stated today that a company letter suggesting users of gas for industrial purposes check their fuel oil standby facilities for the coming winter was sent to all industrial and commercial customers under 3A and 3B rate schedules (for the largest users).

Among these are those customers, including the United States government, which are appealing in Pulaski Circuit Court from the industrial rate increase order granted Ark-La. by the Public Service Commission.

"Standby facilities are contemplated when interruptible gas contracts are signed," Hardin said. He added it was not the first time such notification had been sent out but said the possibility of interruption this coming winter is greater now than at any time in the past because "we are adding some 10,000 domestic customers a year."

Awarding of Diplomas — James H. Jones, Superintendent of Hope Public Schools.

Two Women Die
in Auto Wreck

HOT SPRINGS, (AP) — Two Macon, Mo., women were killed and two other persons injured today in a head-on auto collision on Highway 270 near Mount Ida, 36 miles west of here.

Montgomery County Sheriff Wilbur Tidwell identified the dead as Mrs. Charles L. Fower, 57, and Mrs. Ollie Jurgensmeyer, both of Macon.

In critical condition was Noble Perkins, 45, Pauls Valley, Okla. Seriously injured was Mrs. Claude O. Wright, 58, Macon. Both were taken to hospitals here.

Tidwell said Perkins was driving one car and the three women were in the other auto. He said the vehicles collided on a curve about 9 a. m.

No Difference
in Water, Says
Chicago Doctor

HOT SPRINGS, (AP) — A Chicago physician testified yesterday that urological patients reacted the same to Mountain Valley water as they did to tap water.

Dr. Leyton Kent of Cook County Hospital, Chicago, was a witness for the government in its suit to condemn alleged misleading advertising issued by bottlers of Mountain Valley water. The Mountain Valley company denies that its advertising is misleading and is resisting the suit.

Dr. Kent said he conducted a test on a group of patients suffering from urinary disorders. Some received Mountain Valley water; others, tap water. Mountain Valley bottles. Both sets received the same type of medication.

Dr. Kent testified there was "no great difference in the effect of the two waters on pathological conditions of the urinary tract."

Dr. James T. Wortham of Little Rock, an associate professor of medicine at the University of Arkansas Medical School, testified he knew of no disease which Mountain Valley water could be used to treat.

Mountain Valley attorneys objected on ground the company has not said the water was a treatment, but instead merely a beneficial aid. The government position is that prospective consumers were informed that the water was good for a variety of ailments.

Offer Is Being Considered by the State Dept.

WASHINGTON (UP) — Russia has invited Gen. Nathan F. Twining, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, and other top U. S. air officers to attend the Soviet air celebration in Moscow June 24, the Soviet Embassy disclosed today.

The State Department said the invitation "is under consideration."

The invitation was revealed by Aleksandr I. Zinchuk, embassy press officer. It came amid a flurry of official statements from the White House, Pentagon and State Department about the possibility of all members of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff being invited to visit Russia.

These official statements all emphasized that no invitation for the Joint Chiefs to visit Russia. He said the Russian Embassy had received no formal reply to the invitation for Twining and a small delegation of "top officers" of the Air Force to attend the Moscow air celebration at which the Russians annually show off their latest military, commercial and sports planes.

Twining's office told newsmen it knew nothing about the invitation. But it suggested that they inquire at the State Department.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said the "wouldn't be surprised" if the joint chiefs visit Russia. "If they are invited," he emphasized, "so far, there has been no invitation for American military leaders to inspect Soviet armed forces."

But Snyder declined to confirm or deny a published report that informal feelers have been put out by Russia about such a visit.

Estes' Charge in Pension Bill Irks Adlai

By The Associated Press. Sen. Estes Kefauver has made a campaign issue of Adlai Stevenson's 1951 veto of a pension bill while he was governor of Illinois. And Stevenson has accused Kefauver supporters of circulating "scurrilous literature" against him.

The pension issue could have considerable impact on the outcome of the Florida Democratic presidential primary next Tuesday and the California primary June 5 — both important pre-convention tests of the relative strength of Kefauver and Stevenson with the voters. Both states have sizable populations of retired persons.

At the same time, Howard Pyle, one of President Eisenhower's assistants, ran into a strong protest from Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, for saying in unemployment — beset Detroit that "the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy." Last night, Pyle got out of statement apologizing for the remark, made no newsmen Monday.

As the Florida primary drew closer, the rival candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination shed the cordiality that marked their joint appearance last Monday night on a radio-TV discussion of campaign issues.

At Cocoa, Fla., Kefauver said in a street corner talk that "as governor, Mr. Stevenson vetoed a bill that would have raised old age assistance by 10 per cent." Soon afterward, Kefauver added, the Illinois Public Aid Commission cut pensions by 10 per cent.

Stevenson's Florida campaign chairman, Rep. Robert Sikes, said the pension bill Stevenson rejected wouldn't have provided "one single cent more" for Illinois old age assistance recipients. Sikes said Stevenson had been forced to veto pension and other bills because the Republican Legislature provided no money to finance them.

In Jacksonville, Stevenson said that during his administration as governor, Illinois old age pensions were boosted by 1 per cent.

"Frankly," he added, "I am a little resentful of critical and scurrilous literature being circulated by Kefauver supporters, perhaps without the knowledge of the senator. Stevenson said this material was distributed "slandering" in California and now is showing up in Florida. Sikes accused Kefauver forces of handing out pamphlets which he said contain "distortions, untruths and half-truths" about the 1951 pension bill veto.

Stevenson last night won the formal support of five more Florida Democratic congressmen, who signed a statement saying they believe the former Illinois governor "most closely represents the views of the citizens of Florida." This puts six of the state's seven U.S. representatives in Stevenson's corner. The seventh, Rep. Rogers, has not announced his position.

In Washington, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said that primary victories in Florida and California "would absolutely cinch the nomination" for Stevenson.

Yesterday saw developments in Oklahoma, Illinois and Pennsylvania which could have a bearing on the political fortunes of Stevenson and two other men mentioned as possible Democratic presidential nominees.

In Oklahoma, Gov. Raymond Gary — a supporter of Gov. Averell Harriman of New York — said more than half of the 56-man convention delegation from that state has pledged "as of today" to accept his choice for the Democratic presidential nomination. The delegation, with 28 votes, will stand as a unit.

In Illinois, 16 downstate delegates met at the call of former U. S. Sen. Scott Lucas in Springfield. They expressed "very strong sentiment" for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), regarded as a possible dark horse presidential candidate. But they decided to go to the party's August convention unpledged to any candidate.

In Pennsylvania, the state's 148-member Democratic convention delegation decided at Harrisburg to put off endorsement of any presidential aspirant. But its leaders made it plain they prefer Stevenson. Each delegate will have a half vote.

Presidential Assistant Pyle said in Washington that the remark to which Reuther objected in a protest to Eisenhower was made in offhand fashion. Pyle said he wanted to apologize "to anyone who may have been offended."

Decision on Slayer Brings Reaction

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A jury's decision that Ellis Lauhon was insane when he shot 3 members of a Dickinson, Tex., family to death drew a bitter courtroom reaction last night from a relative of the victims.

Laughon was insane before, he shot them and is insane now, the jury also declared after six hours of deliberation.

The jury's verdict means the 26-year-old former airman from Altus, Ark., will not be tried for the June 22 deaths of Mrs. Ruby McPherson, 42, her son George, 12, and her mother, Mrs. Zola Norman, 63.

The verdict was received bitterly by Jack McPherson, 19, brother, son and grandson of the three victims.

"What are they going to do — keep him in jail for a year or two and then let him loose to kill again," he asked attorneys.

He got no answer. He sat, trying not to cry, as the crowded courtroom emptied. But tears spotted his cheeks as he stood and searched the courtroom with his eyes.

New Porker Cage Schedule Announced

FAYETTEVILLE (AP) — The 1956-57 University of Arkansas basketball schedule includes three new opponents: University of Wichita, Kansas State and Fort Haffee. The schedule has been released by Athletic Director John Barnhill after Faculty Committee approval. Other non-conference foes are Oklahoma University of Tulsa and University of Missouri.

WILL YOU SEE HIM
Coming in Time?

"I didn't see him coming" is an all too common phrase... after an automobile accident. Don't gamble on your vision protecting your life or that of loved ones... or the other fellow.

See your local professional eye examiner for corrective visual aids and make sure you do see the other car coming. The most valuable thing in your life is "vision."

Overcoat Weather Over Much of U. S.

By The Associated Press. It was overcoat weather this morning in most of the northern sections of the country from the Midwest to New England.

Skies cleared and temperatures tumbled as cool air from Canada spread across the middle Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley, the Great Lakes region and into New England. Readings were as much as 25 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

Temperatures were in the 30s and 40s in most of the frosty belt and below freezing along the northern border. Low marks included 19 degrees in Pellston and Grand Marais, Mich.

While the northern areas shivered, mild and clear weather pre-

AP&L Elevates Chief Engineer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — R. R. Pittman, chief engineer for the Arkansas Power & Light Co., was elected a vice president of the company today by the Board of Directors.

All other officers and directors were re-elected.

Pittman joined the company as an electrical engineer at Pine Bluff. He designed the single pole type of rural line that helped speed rural electrification.

He worked in the Gulf and South Atlantic coastal states.

Stormy weather hit areas in the Southern Plains last night and early today. Hail, wind and rain storms struck sections of Texas and Oklahoma.

GOP May Announce Candidate Saturday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The man whom Arkansas Republicans may nominate for governor may be revealed at a meeting of the party's 20-member Executive Committee here Saturday.

National Committeeman Wallace Townsend said today potential candidates will be discussed, but he declined to say whether any names would be made public after the meeting.

The session primarily is scheduled to name temporary officers for the State Republican Convention here June 12. The convention will nominate the GOP gubernatorial candidate.

Soviet Peace Look Affects Congress

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians' campaign to look peaceful is having an effect in Congress, although Secretary of State Dulles seems to dread the thought anyone will believe them.

No matter how sincere the Russians are, their efforts are aimed at getting results either directly or indirectly. In the case of Congress the result was indirect.

On Tuesday — nine days after Moscow said it would reduce its armed forces by 1,200,000 men — the House Foreign Affairs Committee voted to cut $1,109,000,000 from President Eisenhower's requested $4,900,000,000 foreign aid program. That isn't final — both the House and Senate will act later.

One billion dollars of the chopped money would have been for military help to American allies and friends, the rest for economic aid.

One of the reasons for the committee vote was given by the chairman, Rep. Richard (D-SC) in a "seeming lack of interest" in France toward Allied military preparations and a trend in Britain toward reduction of the total British defense program. He gave other reasons; such as the seven billion dollars left over from money previously voted for foreign aid.

A year ago Dulles had publicly stated he was afraid any general belief in Russia's peace campaign would weaken the desire of this country's allies to stay armed and Congress' desire to vote foreign aid funds.

He threw cold water on the Russians' announcement of their military cut last week. He was busy doing the same Tuesday just about the time the committee was making up its minds Eisenhower didn't need all the aid money he had asked for.

It's hardly likely members of Congress would take a chance on the military aid Eisenhower requested for the Allies if they feared war was imminent.

The British have been doing what the United States itself has done as technological progress with new planes and weapons put more emphasis on air power; reducing the size of their armed forces.

Eisenhower said yesterday the Russians seem to be doing the same thing now: "streamlining" their forces.

In January 1953 this country had 3½ million men under arms; today it has 2,800,000. In 1953 Britain's armed forces numbered 870,000; Britain plans to have 700,000 in 1958.

France apparently takes more seriously its troubles in Algeria than its fears about Russian attack. It has withdrawn three of its five divisions in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe for service in North Africa. In the British Parliament more than 50 Laborites praised the Russian move, said the Russians wanted peace, and declared the Soviet competition was now political and economic but no longer military.

The bottoms of a creeper's shoes are as bright and new as the day they were bought (left). But the tops take a beating as baby crawls across the floor on his daily rounds. Baby shoes are best kept clean (center) with a brush and thick suds. Shoes should then dry, preferably in the sun, before shoe polish is applied. Particular mothers may want to alternate laces with freshly-washed ones. Results (right) are sanitary, safe and mighty tasty gnawing for creeper who's teething.

DOROTHY DIX

Try to Forget Ailments Friends, But No Dates Stand-Offish Neighbors

Dear Dorothy Dix: Because of an operation during my early twenties, I am quite nervous and easily upset. Many times I do not feel up to working or taking part in social affairs.

I find it very difficult to explain this to my husband and friends. They act as though I use it as an alibi or that I'm glad to have something to complain about. With household duties, a part-time job, and a teen-ager daughter, I feel I accomplish quite a bit. How can I make friends and family understand my limitations? F. E. A.

Dear F. E. A.: Your problem seems to be essentially a medical one. Consult the very best doctor in nervous disorders you can find. Be completely frank in explaining your case, follow his advice exactly, and I'm sure you'll find an improvement.

It's very difficult for the healthy to understand those of frail, or nervous, make-up. Impatient dismissal of a complaint takes less energy than attempting to understand it. Hence, you've just got to expect your healthy associates to take a dim view of your ailments.

It's been a long time since Ella Wheeler Wilcox penned the lines, "Laugh and the world laughs with you, Weep, and you weep alone," but the sentiment hasn't altered with the years. There's little patience with the weak in this competitive world.

Instead of trying to impress people with your limitations, adopt a new positive line of thought. Under expert care, and with a grim determination, you should succeed in acquiring better social adaptability. If that part-time job offers no stimulation, better let it drop by the wayside.

Dear Dorothy Dix: It's easy for me to make, and keep, girl friends, and to make boy friends. The trouble is I can't keep the attention and interest of boys. They seem to like me, tease me a lot, but never ask for a date. BEFUDDED

Dear Befuddled: What's your reaction to teasing? Do you get sore, or can you give it right back? Teasing, you know, indicates considerable interest; people don't kid folks they don't like.

Take the joshing with good humor, return the banter, but don't be smart-alecky about it. Catch just the right spirit, and the boys will come back for more.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We moved into this neighborhood a year ago and while I've tried to be friendly with my neighbors, they just won't bother with me. I'm 30, attractive, a good housekeeper and a gracious hostess. I've called on all the folks near me but the calls have never been returned. Should I continue trying or give up.

ANXIOUS
Dear Anxious: Try to find some common ground with at least one of your neighbors. Do you attend the same church, have a child in the same grade, share a hobby or have similar interests in any line? Many women who are resistant to social contacts become quite affable when engaged on a community project.

Offer to be a Den Mother or Girl Scout leader. These activities are the greatest barrier-breakers I know.

Doctor Finds Family Slayer Is Insane

GALVESTON, Tex., (AP) — Ellis Lauhon was both "medically and legally insane" when three members of his Dickinson family were shot to death, Dr. Irving Cohen testified yesterday at the sanity hearing for Lauhon.

Cohen, assistant professor of neuro-psychiatry at the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, said he made his examination at the request of Marsene Johnson, Jr., the district attorney.

He was the last witness to testify in the sanity hearing for the 26-year-old former airman from Altus, Ark.

The state and the defense rested their cases at 9 p. m.

Judge Donald Markle said he hoped to have the charge to the jury prepared for presentation at 9 a. m. today. The jury would then deliberate on the sanity of Lauhon. The verdict will determine whether he will stand trial.

or murder charges. "In his mind the people of the United States were bad. They had too much sex and the women needed to be suppressed," Cohen said about Lauhon.

Earlier Dr. D. A. Dwyer, Harris County psychiatrist, said Lauhon was "a very cruel, a very ruthless person, but insane—no."

Previously defense witnesses had testified they considered Lauhon, whose relatives live in Altus, Ark., as mentally unbalanced.

Dr. Dwyer said that in his view Lauhon has "the mind of a cold, cruel, ruthless killer, not any different from the usual killer type criminal."

Another witness yesterday was Johnny McPherson, whose mother, brother and grandmother were killed.

McPherson identified license plates of his mother's car. Lauhon was arrested while trying to sell the automobile after the bodies of Mrs. Ruby McPherson, 42, her mother, Mrs. Zola Norman, 65, and her son, George, 12, had been found in their home at Dickinson, Tex., June 22, 1955.

Dog Racing Permit Case Is Appealed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Chancellor Court order directing the Arkansas Racing Commission to issue a dog racing permit to the Southland Racing Corporation has been appealed today to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Chancellor Leon Smith had ordered the Commission to issue the permit because, he said, the group could not deny a permit to anyone who had met all legal requirements.

The Commission first refused to issue the permit, and said that it was doing so because the action was "in the best interest of the state." The Commission gave no other reason.

The permit was issued after Chancellor Smith's order.

The Commission was given 20 days to file a notice of appeal. The notice was filed on the 20th by Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry, who was acting as an attorney for the Commission.

However, the permit was issued before the Commission learned of Gentry's action. A few days later, the Commission "fired" Gentry as its legal representative.

Southland has built a million dollar track at West Memphis, and after receiving its permit, announced that races would begin in April. A subsequent announcement cancelled the scheduled races and said that Southland would consult with the Commission before setting a racing date.

The United States had 6,812,000 farms in 1935 compared with 7,022,000 today.

Juniors And Seniors Have Gala Night

On Friday evening members of the Junior and Senior classes of the Prescott High School and their dates enjoyed a "Hawaiian Cruise."

At the high school cafeteria they went aboard ship the U. S. S. P. H. S. for the annual Junior and Senior banquet and prom by way of a gang plank. Life savers inscribed U. S. S. P. H. S. hung on the ship rail that encircled the room and red, white and blue pennants were strung from the rail to the ceiling and across the back of the speakers table. A large life saver boat was placed at one end of the banquet room.

The main tables were laid with fish net cloths. Red sea fish painted in gold were placed at each end. A wooden island centered with a miniature palm tree and most formed the center pieces. The speakers table held a central arrangement of flowers and fruit in a wicker basket. Palm trees were placed at intervals. The honored guest table was marked off with a low rock wall with a background of greenery and red honey suckle. Each place setting was marked with a program and napkins of white with a red print of a Hawaiian scene. Pennants with the name of each guest were in red, white and blue nut cups in the shape of boats. Waiters and waitresses, Barbara Moberg, Nancy Gulley, Wyonda Dall, Ed Bryson, Johnny Hines, Terry Purdie, Bill Griffin, Kenneth Moore, Jerry Garner, Jim Greer and Pat Hale Jr., members of the Sophomore class, were dressed in native Hawaiian costumes. Martin Gilbert, president of the Junior class, was master of ceremonies. The following program was presented:

H. — Hawaiian "Koma Mae" (welcome) Martin Gilbert.
A. — "Aloha" But Not Good-bye — Norma Renfro, Vocal Solos, Rita Warren.
W. — Wind and Hurricane — Johnny Langley.
A. — "Aloha Oe" (Love To You) Sammie Vandiver.

I. — Ideals of The Isle — Virginia Ann Hays. Dance Number — Wyonda Dall.
I. — Isle of Golden Dreams — Mr. Harold Smith.

The Collegiate Dance Band of Henderson State Teachers College furnished the music for the prom.

Members of the Junior-Senior Parent Teachers Association sponsored the events for the remainder of the evening.

The next port call was for the premiere at the Nevada Theatre. Mayor Bill Ward gave the welcome address. The couples debarked from the ship and were presented beach combers hats and leis by Betty Ligon, Pat Halton, Martha and Mary Adam, Linda Gail McBrayer and Phyllis Foster who wore native costumes. They then strolled down Wakiki Beach on Bishop Street with its shops of thatched roofs and lanes of tropical flowers. Caroline Halton and Janet Bright in grass skirts and leis sat under palm trees that swayed gently in the breeze. The Diamond Head could be seen in the background. Miss Frances Thrasher was mistress of ceremonies and presented each student who was interviewed by Haskell Jones for broadcasting over Radio Station KXAR and was televised by Louis Oberste, movie cameraman for television station KATV, Pine Bluff and Little Rock. Photographs were made by Pod Rogers and Alex Washburn of the Hope Star. Special lighting equipment furnished by Arkansas Power and Light Co., showed to advantage the beautiful girls in their gorgeous formals and their handsome escorts.

Autograph seekers were on hand and pictures were made by relatives and friends.

Following the premiere the formal opening of the "orchid room" was held at the Teenage Club. The central attraction was a replica of an orchid tree at the entrance with a background of ivy, running roses and palm trees. Two shades of orchid crepe paper were draped from the light fixtures that held gold lights. A grass hut sent from Honolulu through the courtesy of Dole Pineapple Co., was flanked by palm trees. Straw hats were placed on tables and refreshing pineapple juice, from the Dole Pineapple Co., was served from the bar covered with brown paper topped with cactus and magnolia blooms.

Martin Gilbert presented Norma Renfro, president of the senior class, with an orchid leis that was flown from Honolulu to George Wylie secretary-manager of the Prescott Chamber of Commerce.

Next on the cruise was breakfast served in the Educational building of the First Methodist Church. Inside the door was a banana tree complete with a monkey clinging to its trunk cycling a bunch of bananas. Covers were laid for 187 at long tables covered with brown paper. Palm branches interspersed with bananas, pineapple and straw hats extended the length of the tables. Menu pads courtesy of Watson Navigation Co., with menu cards printed in Hawaiian courtesy of the Nevada County Playhouse, marked each place. Background music was Hawaiian selections. The ham was compliments of Logan Grocery Co., and the Prescott Hdw. Co.

The chapel service held in the sanctuary of the Methodist Church was a fitting climax for the evening's activities and was conducted by Rev. W. D. Golden and Rev. Sidney Patrick. The chancel rail was outlined with ivy and mammoth white burning candles. A lighted cross and arrangements of magnolia blooms formed the background.

Mrs. Jess Hays was overall chairman for this year's activities assisted by George Wylie and Mrs. Max Kitchen. Other committee included: Banquet and Prom, Mrs. Edward Bryson, Clive McClelland, Mrs. Dudley Gordon; Picture Show, Mrs. Carl Dalrymple, chairman, Mrs. Frank Gilbert, Vice-Chairman; Teen-Age Club, Mrs. B. A. Warren, chairman, Mrs. P. A. Es-carre, Vice-Chairman; Breakfast, Mrs. J. Ed Smith, Chairman, Mrs. Clifton Yancey, Vice-Chairman; Church, Mrs. H. H. Mc Kenzie.

West Prescott H. D. Club Meets

The West Prescott Home Demonstration Club met May 16 at the home of Mrs. Wallace Sage with 20 members and two guests Mrs. J. C. Williams of Monroe, La., and Miss Ann Jamison, County Home Demonstration Agent present.

The group sang "America The Beautiful" and the devotionals given by Mrs. Jimmy Allen from Matthew 18:14-20. Mrs. A. E. McQuire, president, presided over the business session and roll call was answered with what I can do to improve my lawn.

Demonstrations on making home accessories and time savers were demonstrated by Mrs. T. F. Carrington, Mrs. Woodrow Easterling and Mrs. Allen. Copies of the ideas were passed out to the members.

British Will Hold Bastions Overseas

BY ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Britain, celebrating the 40th anniversary of Empire Day today, has hardened her resolve to hold several restive overseas bastions no matter how much the people there want to get rid of the Union Jack.

The British resolve to remain ruler of strategic outposts — proclaimed by Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd in a speech this week — cuts across a traditional policy of leading colonies to political independence. The idea was that the colonies, once freed, would continue to coordinate their military, economic and foreign policies with Britain's as members of the British Commonwealth.

That policy still applies to "non-strategic" imperial territories. But mounting anti-British campaigns in Cyprus and Singapore — and the ambitions of Aden's neighbors Saudi Arabia and Yemen — promise little hope for Britain's influence once she releases those outlying military outposts.

The June meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Dalton Stockton.

Kenny Formby Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Formby honored their son, Kenny, and a group of his friends with a weiner roast on the lawn of their home Friday evening.

Those present were Mike Moore, John Reynolds, Bob Rouse, George Clay, William Ward Taylor, Wylie Duke, Jimmy Ray Dickerson, Jim Fairchild, Walter Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Dickerson and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Fairchild.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Durham Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Durham celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday at their home.

They were honored with open house given by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Priest of Pasadena, Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Brice Durham of Kilgore, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Durham of Collins, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Durham of Eudora, Mr. and Mrs. Donnell Durham of Harlingen, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Durham of Prescott.

The entire house was decorated with potted yellow chrysanthemums. The mantel arrangement was of yellow mums and greenery.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. W. R. Durham and presented to the honor guests and their children Mrs. Ray Priest, Brice Durham, W. R. Durham, Sid Durham and Jim Durham.

The dining table was covered with a hand crocheted cloth over yellow and held an artistic arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and fern flanked by burning yellow tapers in crystal candleabra. Lighted yellow tapers in crystal holders adorned the buffet Mrs. Mildred Dickerson of Hope presided at the punch bowl. Individual white cakes embossed with 50 in yellow were served by Mrs. Brice Durham and Mrs. Jim Durham. Mrs. Sid Durham and Mrs. Nat Woosley assisted in dispensing hospitalities.

Grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Durham, Raymond Priest 3rd had charge of the guest book, piano music was played by Jimmy Frances Durham and the gifts were displayed by Carleen Durham.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crow presented Mrs. Durham with a white orchid corsage and Mr. Durham a white carnation boutonniere. Members of the house party wore yellow chrysanthemum corsages and the men wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Mr. and Mrs. Durham were born near Sutton and moved to Prescott in 1915. They are members of the First Presbyterian Church.

One hundred and ten guests called during the appointed hours. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thornton of El Dorado; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Williams and granddaughter, Mrs. George Dobbs, Mrs. Jewell Moore Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Williams and Mrs. Lee McCain of Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Scott of Little Rock were weekend guests of Mrs. Vick Scott and Miss Carol Scott.

Mrs. Bernice Gentry has returned to Dallas, Texas after a visit with Miss Lillie Butcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rouse had as their Sunday guests Mrs. Charles Segner, Ann Caroline and Jean of Houston, Texas, Jack Porter and Mr. and Mrs. George Hosmer of Hope.

Thurman Dewoody of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Thurman Dewoody Jr., of Wichita, Kansas were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dewoody.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haynie of El Dorado visited relatives here Sunday.

Jerry Daniel of Magnolia spent the weekend with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Daniel.

Friends of Mrs. Dale Wilson will regret that she is a patient in the Cora Donnell Hospital.

Education Cost Amazes Professor

By LEIF ERICKSON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bergen Evans, the man who thinks up $64,000 questions, is "aghast at the burden parents bear to send their children through college."
At $2,000 a year, it now costs $16,000 to send two through college, Evans said last night. "That, I am sure, eats up more than the lifetime savings of the average parents."

Evans, Northwestern University professor of English, spoke at a banquet for delegates to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. The Congress ends today.

Evans told a news conference before the banquet:
"The prices for higher education have soared. Society has been caught off base."

In particular, he said, medical education costs have gone up, and "it takes seven years and more to turn out a doctor."

"Only doctors now can afford to send their sons to medical school," he said. "There isn't a chance for a laboring man's son to get to be a doctor."

Evans, son of a doctor and father of two boys, augments his faculty salary by drafting all but the baseball questions for The $64,000 Question television program.

He said he doesn't produce the baseball questions because "I don't like intellectuals pretending an enthusiasm for baseball."

Society soon will be deciding whether it wants its doctors to come from the talented and the skilled, or those who can afford it, Evans continued.

"The question we are skirting is: Can democracy stop short of socialism?" he said. "I assume that it can't. There will be more state financing for education."

"Through taxes is one way our democracy is approaching closer to socialism."

"How many are there in our country now who earn—I mean earn—$100,000 a year? I'd say there can't be many more than a hundred. After taxes they keep $33,000."

"The ordinary working man gets $5,000 a year; and there isn't much bite out of his take-home pay. So we can say that the top talented men of our time can take home in money only seven times as much as the ordinary worker in our society."

Politics on Television Can Be Real Bore

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of Americans are looking forward to the television excitement involved in this political year. We loved 1952, which was the first year that the medium took most of us to the conventions.

But this is four years later, when there are a lot more sets around and when the viewers are much more accustomed to television trips around the world.

Maybe it was good enough four years ago to buy time on a network and set up a candidate or two before a camera for a set speech or to answer friendly, carefully framed questions. Maybe it was good enough because most of us were still excited about bringing our candidates into our own homes to perform and expand.

But if Monday night's widely heralded appearance of Sen. Estes Kefauver and Adlai E. Stevenson on an hour-long program can be considered as an hour d'oeuvre for the political feast ahead of us this year, it's going to be a long, dull summer.

It does seem that the joint appearance of these two red-hot Democratic hopefuls might have provided more exciting fare.

We were treated, instead, to a very long hour of terribly polite, civilized and gentlemanly discussion. There was never an explosion of temper, nary a flash of wit.

was elected vice president and if precedent is followed will become president at next year's convention.

Of course, both Stevenson and Kefauver are devout members of the same political faith and hence are limited in the amount of infighting in which they can, in the name of party loyalty, engage.

Rather formally, they seemed anxious to expound their own ideas or get in a "me, too." Then there was much pulling in tandem in attacks on the opposition. It should make for dull, plodding television.

Political campaigns need conflict and excitement to be stimulating. So, apparently, does television. It is curious that two men like Kefauver and Stevenson, who made their reputations out of these two elements, could have come together to produce such a quantity of clinches on one hand and boredom on the other.

Offer Is Being

into their names or positions." A Defense Department spokesman had said earlier that it would "seriously consider" any Russian invitation for the joint chiefs to visit the Soviet Union.

And State Department officials said they considered such an invitation at least a possibility.

The New York Daily News reported the possibility of a Russian invitation in a copyrighted dispatch from New York.

"Such a proposal would be seriously considered in the light of any conditions imposed," the Pentagon spokesman said.

State Department officials said that although they have heard nothing of such a Russian invitation they would not be surprised if one were forthcoming. Iron Curtain sources have been hinting that the Soviet Union might make a dramatic proposal as a follow-up of Russia's announced intention to draw its millionth customers.

The customers aren't all tourists either. North Carolina loves its Cherokees, wants to help them.

A Cherokee can't sell his land to anyone else except another Cherokee without federal approval. He doesn't pay a land tax. But he is now a citizen of both North Carolina and the United States. He pays income taxes, sales taxes—all other taxes.

Tribal Councilman Jackson, who served four years himself in the Pacific in World War II, is proud that most Cherokees in that conflict were volunteers rather than draftees. He is proud a Cherokee was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor for heroism in Korea.

"Our people are poor," he said. "If there is a millionaire Cherokee, he would have to be a recluse in Oklahoma. There are none here."

The chief white man's gifts to the Cherokees—smallpox and tuberculosis—are no longer major scourges. But diabetes is.

"It afflicts 75 per cent of our people," Jackson said, and when I expressed doubt, he added "We are poor. We don't get to eat what we once did. The doctors tell us it is because we eat too much corn, potatoes and beans. But what else can we afford? These are things we can grow."

The eastern branch of the Cherokee Nation has one solid reason to ask more help from Uncle Sam than many foreign nations.

Some years ago the Cherokees borrowed $500,000 from the Federal government to build a tourist meter court, gasoline station, and native crafts shop. It was a 25-year loan.

"The operation has shown a profit every year," said Jackson, "and we are 10 years ahead on our repayment schedule. All we want is to be self-sufficient."

million dollars in salaries, this year hopes to draw its millionth customers.

tion to reduce her armed forces by 1.2 million men. Although the hints have been vague, there was a suggestion it might involve exchanges and would be aimed at keeping the disarmament ball rolling.

American officials said such a move probably would be aimed at trying to impress the world still further with Soviet demobilization moves. But they emphasized that such action still would amount to a unilateral decision on the part of the Russians and would not obligate them to take any action they don't wish to take. Nor would it achieve the essential disarmament ingredient of foolproof inspections, they said.

Assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder said he had checked with Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs, and "there has been no invitation."

State Department officials likewise said that they had not received the reported Russian hint that the joint chiefs would be welcome to visit the Soviets and inspect the Red armed forces.

Extension of GI Housing Loans Asked

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-year extension of the GI home loan program was proposed to the Senate today as an amendment to the multi-billion-dollar omnibus housing bill.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said he planned to sponsor the extension along with Senators Hill (D-Ala.) and Sparkman (D-Ala.). He made the surprise announcement as the Senate prepared to take up the housing bill, which would increase Federal Housing Administration loan insurance authority, continue public housing development and provide special low-cost housing for elderly persons.

The GI loan program now is scheduled to expire for most veterans on July 25, 1957, but its extension has been urged by home builders and real estate groups and by veterans organizations. They have contended action must be taken this year to prevent a big slowdown in home building.

Lehman said his proposed amendment would apply to both the loan guarantee and the direct loan programs operated by the Veterans Administration.

As of the end of 1955, the VA estimated it had underwritten 4,260,000 GI home loans with a total principal of about 33 billion dollars. About one in every five loans had been paid off in full, it said.

MANILA (AP)—A boat loaded with 100 Filipino Catholic pilgrims burned off Leyte Island yesterday. At least 15 persons were reported dead and 12 missing. There were 20 injured.

The Philippine news service said most of the victims were sailing men, women and children en route to receive the annual blessing of a local patron saint in northern Leyte.

Buick SUPER 6-Passenger 4-Door Wildcat

When it purrs, you reign

YOU CAN hardly hear its whispered might—but man, you sure can feel it.

It's power almost without limit—power that humbles the hills, melts the miles, makes you monarch of all you survey.

For this is a new Buick—a '56 Buick—sparked by the most potent engine in Buick annals—a 322-cubic-inch V8 with a record high compression of 9.5 to 1.

But what makes you feel even more like bossman of the highway is the great new advance in Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

First time you tickle the gas pedal you'll know what we mean.

Now—smack in the top inch of gas pedal travel—right where you save gas every turn of the wheels—you get a swift, sure and supremely positive new getaway response.

For smooth and nimble performance—for sheer mastery in traffic—nothing like it ever was.

And that's just part of it. When you need a still greater flow of get-up-and-go for safety's sake, you merely switch the pitch and you zoom out of tight spots.

So come rule the roost in this '56 Buick.

Come drive a car with 127 gorgeous inches of wheelbase to give it regal room and a ride that's fit for a king.

Try out Buick's new steering—new center-grooved brakes—new direct-acting shock absorbers with triple the former volume of jounce-cushioning oil.

Learn how it feels to boss a car that looks like royalty and acts the part to perfection.

We promise—you'll practically purr with delight at the wheel of this dazzler—especially when you discover how easily you can make it your own.

What do you say—shall we expect you today?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

'Hot' Travelers Jolt Barons 5-4

By The Associated Press
The New Orleans Pels moved into the Southern Association cellar to keep company with Chattanooga today and if a couple of newcomers don't come through for Mobile in a hurry the place is going to be right crowded.

New Orleans, which won 14 of its initial 26 games, suffered its 12th setback in 15 outings last night, losing a 1-0 decision to Nashville. Chattanooga knocked off Mobile 11-6 to move into a seventh place tie with the Pels. The Mobile loss left the Bears and only 2 1/2 games out of the cellar.

Birmingham's front-running Barons were jolted by the surprising Little Rock Travelers 5-4 and Memphis strengthened its grip on second place by downing Atlanta 3-1. The Chiefs trail Birmingham by five games.

Little Rock got only six hits off Lloyd Merritt and two relievers. But two homers, a single and a walk in the seventh inning proved to be enough. Birmingham raked Clarence Iott and Joe Tully for 11 scattered blows in eight innings.

Certainly you have no difficulty in answering this question! We live in a day when all our efforts need to be turned to the preservation of the heritage given us by our forefathers. We need to give our children that hope and steadfastness in God that will keep our land ever the land of the free.

With this desire to give our children that security for the future, our church for the every effort it can put forth to strengthen them is worthwhile. We are holding a Vacation Bible School this summer—a time when the boys and girls can enjoy learning and playing under capable Christian leadership. All children are welcome to attend.

Dope Addiction Overcomes Screen Taboo

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Found: A way to film an addiction story without incensing the censors. The solution: The hero gets hooked on cortisone.

Dope addiction was taboo on the screen until Otto Preminger came along with his "Man With The Golden Arm." The picture was refused a seal of the Production Code Administration, Hollywood's self-censoring body, but did excellent business anyway.

Now 20th Century-Fox is filming "One in a Million," which is also about addiction but is experience no Johnston office troubles. The story is based on an actual case, as reported in the New Yorker.

James Mason plays a school-teacher who is suffering from a rare arthritic condition that threatens to cripple him. His doctor prescribes cortisone. This was at a time when the drug was new and its effects not completely known.

"The doctor warns him to take only small amounts," Mason explains. "But the man is desperate. He cannot face life as an invalid."

So he goes on a cortisone binge. He indulges in many adventures to acquire the drug and manages to become deranged in the meantime.

He was asked how he thought the picture would affect the public's confidence in cortisone.

"I don't think it will have a bad effect," he replied. "The story takes place when the drug is actually a hormone—was new and relatively untried. The doctor warns the man to go easy."

Mason speaks with authority on the picture because he is not only its star but the producer as well. Stars often produce their own films independently; this is one of the rare instances in which a star has produced a picture for a major studio.

is wanted in North Little Rock, Stuttgart and Lake Village on charges of cashing worthless checks.

Sheriff Tom Gulley said Carlson, about 40, has agreed to waive extradition.

One man is holding five checks ranging from $5 to $75, while two other checks are for $40 and $50. Gulley said. He said the bad checks in Stuttgart are reported to total about $500.

Carlson formerly operated a small seed store in North Little Rock.

Big Business Holds Annual Conferences

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—It's another big week for the stockholders. Some of the biggest companies are holding their annual meetings.

While some of the shareholders may be disturbed over what has been happening to the market value of their holdings, for the most part the meetings are bringing soothing predictions of expansion and good earnings. But there is also a full mixture of the things that can come up at such get-togethers.

Today is a first for stockholders, and management of Ford Motor Co. In tents near the River Rouge plant the public owners are meeting the family and other management officials for the first time.

A generally contented group—shareholders of Jersey Standard Oil—heard its officials yesterday raise their estimates on the demand for oil this year. President M. J. Rothbone told the meeting in Linden, N. J., that domestic demand should go up 5 per cent this year and demand abroad rise 10 per cent. The shareholders, having got since their last annual meeting the stock split they had long clamored for, also enjoyed a record high.

The often boisterous stockholders of the New York Central, meeting today in Albany, to hear Robert R. Young's account of his stewardship, were able to call on Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor, for legal advice on parliamentary procedures. Management was trying to forestall some of the high jinks of recent years.

Commonwealth Edison's stockholders in Chicago increased the total of common stock and heard a prediction that sales would be a little better this year than last with the outlook even brighter for the next 10 years.

Pan American World Airways stockholders were assured that more Americans than ever will travel abroad this year.

Stock splitting—popular share owner pastime—occupied the owners of Procter & Gamble at a meeting in Cincinnati. The shareholders approved a two for one split of common stock. In turn management told them it planned to raise the dividend rate.

In 1950 there were 12½ acres of U.S. farm land per capita compared with 5 acres today.

In about 10 per cent of hunting gun accidents, men are mistaken for game.

Dulles Seems Confusing About Russia

By JAMES MARLOW
Associate Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If you sometimes get confused trying to follow Secretary of State Dulles on the Russian situation, it's because he seems to have two separate ideas about them although not necessarily at the same time.

On what must be his sunny days he sees the Russians changing their ways because of their own weakness and Western pressure. On cloudier days he looks upon the new Soviet policies as a grave danger.

He has expressed a double worry of what might happen if there was a general acceptance of the idea that the Russians were mending their ways and concern about war was gone. (A) that the Western alliance might break up, and (B) that Congress might be reluctant to vote as much money for the foreign aid program as the Eisenhower administration thinks necessary.

Last May 24 he said: "There are within the free nations some who are tempted by this prospect (the idea the Russians are changing for the better) and they look toward the United States to see how we interpret the recent Soviet gestures."

"If we seem to regard them as demonstrating a basic change of Soviet attitude and as indicating that the danger is over, they will hastily follow in that way. In that event much of the solidarity in strength while has been built over the past year would quickly disintegrate."

Then, with Congress considering the foreign aid program, he added: "There could be no worse moment to depart from the policy represented by the foreign aid program which has brought us where we are."

This month—when Congress is considering this year's foreign aid bill—Dulles has been persistently skeptical of the Russians' good intentions in announcing they were cutting their armed forces by 1,200,000 men.

On May 15 Dulles said this would "reduce the Soviet's ability to wage atomic war—that men taken out of uniform could be used making nuclear weapons."

He said it would substantially reduce the size of the ground forces. "Yesterday he stuck to this same view of the Russian cut, saying that if they really went through with it, it was for economic, military and propaganda reasons."

Here are some of the things Dulles has said about the Russians in the past two years:

In 1950:

On May 16 he saw some "promise of constructive accomplishment" at the Big Four summit meeting in the following July. On May 17 he said the biggest danger of the summit meeting was that the world might expect too much.

On June 7 he thought the Russian attitude toward the whole of Eastern Europe might be changing. On June 10 he said the new Soviet policy was the result of "strains" created by the West.

"The Russians had really not undergone any change of heart, and their economy was on the point of collapse."

On Sept. 22, after the Geneva conference, Dulles said a "new spirit does indeed prevail" and the world might be entering a decade of peaceful change. But on Dec. 9 he said the Russians hadn't really changed, except in tactics.

He talked of a need for the West to "keep a capacity to retaliate massively against attack" but on Dec. 18 he said "it seems the Soviet leaders will seek to pursue their ambitions by means other than the use or threat of open force."

In 1951:

On Jan. 11, just as the administration was getting ready to ask Congress for foreign aid money, Dulles and Eisenhower issued a statement warning the country to wake up to the Russian danger and that "we could lose the economic contest."

On Feb. 14, in a statement in which he said the country shouldn't be "panicked," Dulles also said Russian policies had "relaxed" and they had to devise new ones.

Oil-Increase Demand Soon

LINDEN, N. J. (AP)—Demand for oil will increase about 5 per cent in the United States and about 10 per cent abroad this year, says M. J. Rathbone, president of Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), said today in a talk prepared for the company's annual stockholder meeting.

The current outlook envisions higher estimates than those given in the 1950 annual report, Rathbone said.

He predicted an increase in the price of crude oil because of "material labor and exploratory costs," pointing out that there has been no increase in the price of crude since June, 1950.

"However," he declared, "in our judgment, the supply and demand situation does not at this time indicate that an immediate increase in the price of crude oil could be warranted."

The Jersey Standard executive said product inventory is adequate at the time, crude oil is in good supply and there is ample production capacity.

There are about 200 known reserves of oil in the world.
